1. A. In a few sentences, please describe the initial scope of your project.

Provide training for staff working in bulk fuel tank farms and electric utilities in rural Alaska to help facilities keep sustainable and code compliant.

B. Did you modify the scope or the budget at any time during this project? If so, please explain.

The scope of this grant was changed in order to perform all follow-up site visits for the bulk fuel and electric utility business training. The instructor conducting the visits came down with pneumonia and was unable to travel. We deferred the site visits to the FY09 training year. Both sites received their site visits in July, 2008.

2. A. How many people did your original proposal intend to train? 118

B. How many people did you ultimately train? 104 Please attach a final list of participants, their community, certification and where they are employed.

See attached spreadsheet. All trainees completing the training received certificates of completion with the exception of the Itinerant Bulk Fuel attendees as this training is basically a follow-up as part of their initial Bulk Fuel Operator training.

C. If there is a variance between original and final, please explain.

The less than planned for final number for trainees is due to last minute cancellations and in-training expulsions for not abiding by AEA/AVTEC policies.

3. Please tell us about lesson(s) learned during this project.

Perhaps to overfill classes by a higher margin than done already to account for last minute cancellations.

4. Please provide a minimum of one success story for this project.

In FY05, the Alaska Energy Authority (AEA) implemented a program for business training to help communities comply with the requirements of the business plans they had signed as a requirement of receiving Denali Commission project funds. Golovin was one of those communities that received the training. Last year they had an unfortunate incident of a storm blowing off the roof of their recently completed (2004) powerhouse project. Thanks to the business training received by their bookkeeper and manager, they had been following the requirements of the business plan by setting money aside so they had funds for the materials to rebuild the roof. They had set up the required replace and renewal (R&R) and operation and maintenance (O&M) accounts and had been making regular deposits into those accounts.

5. Please attach a few photos with descriptive captions.

Photos will be sent via email.
